Karin Rivard, Goulston & Storrs: Entrepreneurs Forum

Date & Time: 07 February 2012, 5:30 - 6:30 PM

Location: Lemberg Academic Center

Room: Thomas H. Lee Lecture Hall

Karin Rivard focuses her practice on innovation, technology development and intellectual property monetization, including licensing, manufacturing, product distribution, strategic alliances and consortia. She has over 15 years of legal experience across multiple disciplines with current representative clients that include software companies, medical device companies, drug development companies, biotechnology companies, technology start-ups and online service providers. In addition, Karin represents academic medical centers, healthcare systems, universities, foundations and research institutes and provides advice with regard to technology and intellectual property matters, as well as with general healthcare law compliance (Anti-Kickback Statute, HIPAA, HITECH). Applying her ten years of in-house experience as Counsel and Assistant Director of the MIT Technology Licensing Office, Karin brings unique perspective to industry/academia transactions, typically including spin-outs, collaborations, research and development, consortia and technology transfer. Karin is a frequent speaker on matters relating to technology transfer, open source licensing and open innovation environments.
