

Christopher J. Clements

Associate

cclements@goulstonstorrs.com

Boston: +1 617 574 0594

Chris Clements is a real estate attorney who represents owners, investors, and developers in connection with the development, acquisition, and disposition of commercial real estate.

His work primarily involves the permitting and development of complex mixed-use, office, hospitality, retail, life science, and multifamily residential projects. He counsels clients through the full range of analysis and strategy, including the utilization of economic development, tax, and financing incentives, as well as public-private partnerships and special development entities.

Before joining Goulston & Storrs, Chris was an Associate at an Am Law 200 law firm, where he focused on real estate and economic development incentives. He received his J.D. from Boston College Law School, where he was a senior editor for the Boston College Law Review, and his B.S. from The Ohio State University.

Accolades

- Best Lawyers in America® (2021-2023): Real Estate Law

Affiliations

- Independents' Day, Board of Trustees, 2016-2018

Admissions

- Massachusetts

Education

- Boston College (J.D., 2012)
 - Senior Editor, Boston College Law Review
- The Ohio State University (B.S., 2009)

Publications

Spring 2017

Top 10 TIF Misconceptions – Creating Additional Project Value and Avoiding Costly Mistakes

Originally published as a co-authored article in Development Incentives Quarterly, a Vorys publication

December 29, 2016

State and Local Tax Alert: New Property Tax Exemption Available for Commercial or Industrial Property Under Development

Originally published as a co-authored article in a Vorys newsletter publication

Fall 2016

Downtown Redevelopment Districts: Overview and Implementation Strategies

Originally published as a co-authored article in Development Incentives Quarterly, a Vorys publication

Blog Posts: Retail Law Advisor

This blog keeps you connected to timely developments and emerging issues in retail law and covers a wide range of topics related to the retail, restaurant and consumer industry. We invite you to learn more about Goulston & Storrs and our Retail, Restaurant & Consumer Group.

August 28, 2019

What's Old is New Again: Department Stores Partner with Online-Only Secondhand Apparel Companies

Apparel merchandisers are predicting that resale will soon become a force in the industry and retailers are beginning to take notice. Increasingly, young shoppers are turning to online, resale and rental for their clothing needs and department stores are...