New York: +1 212 878 5129

Hara Perkins has structured city-transforming real estate transactions, including NYC's Essex Crossing (on the public side) and Cornell Tech's Roosevelt Island Campus (on the private side). Her consensus-building approach delivers long-term value to her clients and involve lasting relationships through joint ventures, ground leases or condominium regimes.

Hara is recognized as an expert in affordable housing and economic development. She has negotiated $10 billion in low income housing tax credit transactions for developers and investors. She also co-chairs the firm's Multifamily Housing Industry group and speaks regularly on industry trends.

An award-winning attorney, Hara has served on numerous boards and in pro bono roles, including as outside general counsel for Civic Consulting USA (a social impact consultancy). She was named one of NY's Top 30 Remarkable Women and of Crain's Leading Women Lawyers.

Prior to joining the firm, Hara clerked for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.
