Justin Heller is an associate in the litigation group at Goulston & Storrs. Justin works with a wide range of clients facing litigation at all stages, including through trials and appeals. His experience spans a wide range of issues including general commercial litigation, professional liability and legal malpractice, construction litigation, breach of contract, and commercial tort claims.

During law school, he competed in the 2020 ICC International Mediation Competition in Paris, France, and was a member of the Alternative Dispute Resolution Honor Society and Brooklyn Journal of International Law. In addition, he was named to The Order of Barristers. Justin was also involved in the classroom and student life, serving as a Teaching Assistant for Constitutional Law.

Before joining G&S, he was a Student Prosecutor with the United States Attorney's Office – E.D.N.Y., interned in the Special Federal Litigation Division of the New York City Law Department, and was a judicial intern for Hon. Cathy L. Waldor in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey.

Representative Matters

Successfully Defended Iovino in One of the Largest Bid Protest Actions in New York City

Represented an Iovino Enterprises joint venture in the successful defense of multiple challenges to the JV's winning bid of over $1.2 billion for the East Side Coastal Resiliency Project that will protect lower Manhattan from flood risk due to coastal storms. See details here. Our team defeated multiple applications for temporary restraining orders and preliminary injunctions sought in separate proceedings by a losing bidder and by community groups at both the trial court and appellate court levels.
