The Real Deal

The Real Deal covers what to expect at this year's International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC) New York Deal Making event and quotes David Rabinowitz.

With retail in transition, ICSC's NYC show features a major uptick in talks and panels.

"Retail is exciting," said David Rabinowitz, a real estate lawyer with Goulston & Storrs and chair of the New York Deal Making Program Planning Committee, a group of industry volunteers that advises ICSC on planning the event. "A few years ago people called it an apocalypse. I think now people realize it's not the apocalypse — it's just evolving into something different."
