

"Trusted Leader Helps Boston Firm Succeed and Take a Stand," Of Counsel

October 12, 2017

Steven T. Taylor

It's no secret, and to a large degree it's understandable, that most law firms work hard to avoid controversy—sometimes to the point where they fail to take a position on any sort of issue, sentiment, or event when maybe they should. Recently, Boston-based Goulston & Storrs took a clear, bold, and important stance when it was most needed.